TO MENACE
OF U-BOATSLOYD GEORGE ANNOUNCES EF-FECTIVE WORK IS BEING DONE IN COMBATING SUBMARINES.

OWE DEBT TO AMERICA

United States Has Done Much to Assist Britain, Premier Declares
In His Message to Commons.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

London, May 25.—The successes against submarines have resulted in a distinct improvement in our food situation, said Premier Lloyd George today in the house of commons.

The premier said more effective blows had been dealt the submarines during the last three weeks than during any corresponding period during the war.

The shipping losses for May, the premier said, probably would show a reduction from the April figure. In speaking of the success of the anti-submarine methods, he said:

Owe Debt to America.
"We owe a considerable debt of gratitude to the great American people for the effective assistance they have rendered, and the credit they have placed at our disposal. Now that the American nation is in the war, it is easier to make arrangements for the protection of our mercantile marines than it was before."

Lloyd George asserted there was no danger to the country from starvation, but the utmost economy of foodstuffs was still essential.

The submarine menace need cause no fear that the war is going to be lost for that reason, he declared. He is depending mainly upon submarine warfare for success, and I am able to say they are doomed to disappointment.

Lloyd George continued: "The German submarine war is destined to be the greatest miscalculation in the whole series of miscalculations of that sated empire."

British Freighter Sunk.
New York, May 25.—The British freighter, Peltria, of 3,254 tons, was sunk May 5 off the Irish coast. The captain and one of the crew, including Americans, are missing. This was learned today at the offices here of the Cunard Line, owners of the vessel.

Reports also were received of the sinking by a submarine of the British seaplane carrier, Confield, 2,804 tons, with the loss of three of her crew. One of them was an American seaman.

Paris, May 25.—One French merchantman of more than 1,600 tons and two under that tonnage were sunk by mines or submarines during the week ended yesterday. These ships were successfully attacked, while 991 entered French ports and 1,016 failed in the same period.

Greek Steamer Torpedoed.
New York, May 25.—The Greek freight steamer, Odysseus, a vessel of 2,163 tons, which left New Orleans the latter part of March for Antwerp, was torpedoed and sunk April 13, according to two members of her crew, who arrived here today on a Norwegian vessel.

FIFTEEN CARLOADS
MINE TIMBER BURNS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Duluth, May 25.—Forest fires to the north continue burning and reports received today include:

Hunt, Minn.—An investigation is being made of a fire late last night which destroyed fifteen carloads of mine timber, piled at the north end of the Woodbridge location. The loss is several thousand dollars.

Three days of strong winds have swept the fire far, said Hugo Nelson, forest ranger. "Small damage has been done in this district for lumber men and homesteaders have kept the fires away from farms and big timber. A rain or change in wind is badly needed."

DEMAND NORWAY BAN
ALL FOOD EXPORTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

London, May 25.—A dispatch from Copenhagen reports that Christiana workmen laid down their tools and marched to the parliament building, protesting the exportation of provisions, and the seizure of all ships necessary to furnish food and raw materials for the country. They also demanded that no German ships be permitted to enter Norwegian ports, on the ground that they carry food from the country.

HERBERT HOOVER, WHO FED BELGIANS,

Herbert C. Hoover.

According to recent advices from Washington, congress is to give President Wilson complete control of the food situation. He, in turn, will delegate it to a food commissioner who, in reality, will be food dictator. Herbert C. Hoover, who won international fame as head of the Belgian relief commission, has been definitely selected for the new post.

Summary of War News

Austrian official statements supplementing announcements from Rome indicate that the Italian offensive in the Julian Alps and on the Carso plateau is growing steadily in importance and extent. General Cadorna apparently is making a supreme effort for a decision, and the brilliant successes already he has won have roused high hopes. The Italian commander seems to be following Anglo-French tactics of striking mighty alternate blows at his enemy's flanks. The roar of his guns can already be heard in Trieste, but the wilderness of volcanic rocks and caves which lies between him and his goal, makes a rapid advance under the most favorable circumstances, an impossibility. The most advanced Italian posts are scarcely more than ten miles from the great Austrian naval base, but this distance is not to be compared with an equal extent in an open country.

The Italians have struck at a time when political conditions in Austria-Hungary have reached an acute phase. The resignation of Count Tisza, "iron man" of the dual monarchy and staunch pillar of pan-Germanism and junkerdom, comes on the eve of a step bitterly fought by parliamentarians since the outbreak of the war, and as bitterly continued for by the democratic leaders. The extent of the political crisis is indicated by the numerous reports that the young Emperor Charles has democratic leanings, and consequently opposed to the junker ring in Berlin. A further and highly significant indication of the Austrian emperor's position comes in the report that he has summoned Count Albert Apponyi and Julian Andrássy to an audience. Both men have been conspicuous for years as leaders of the liberal element in the empire, and have been consistent opponents of Count Tisza. Count Apponyi has delivered numerous lectures in the United States and Count Andrássy is credited with having warm admiration for England and English institutions. He has for many years advocated universal suffrage for Austria-Hungary, and is also father of a scheme for a world forum.

No change of importance is reported from any of the other war theatres. The British are preparing for another drive in the Arras region, but bad weather possibly may delay the blow. A further and highly significant indication of the Russian position in the war is reported to have met with considerable success. Presumably the demoralization in Russia is being capitalized in the British campaign in Mesopotamia, as nothing has been heard from that region for some time.

Austrian Parliament
Convenes; May Mean
Crisis for Monarchy

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Amsterdam, via London, May 25.—A Vienna telegram says that in the course of a meeting of the representatives of the lower chamber, Premier Ciam-Martino expressed the hope that the session would proceed in a manner to increase the reputation of the monarchy abroad.

He mentioned bills which would be submitted, including a coalition law one providing for war profit tax. The premier admitted the right of the house to decide independently what is considered necessary.

The foregoing dispatch gives the first news that the Austrian parliament has convened. The convening of parliament, which has not been in session since the outbreak of the war, has been one of the acute political questions in Austria. Dr. Friedrich Adler, the assassin of Premier Stuerghk, gave as the principal reason for his act the premier's determined refusal to convene the legislature. On April 26 the government yielded to the growing popular demand and announced parliament would meet May 30. Premier Ciam-Martino's address was presumably delivered at the parliamentary gathering of the deputies.

Candidates for Premier.
London, May 25.—Two of the most likely candidates for the Hungarian premiership in succession of Count Tisza, according to Vienna dispatches, are Neufeldt, a former Hungarian premier, and Archduke Joseph. Both these men, the newspaper comments, have held high office and are popular as well as of the crown.

Explains Resignation.
Amsterdam via London, May 25.—A Budapest dispatch says Count Tisza at a conference with representatives of national labor party, declared the principal reason for his resignation as Hungarian premier was his attitude in regard to the king's proposals.

Count Tisza said he would support the next government in any measure having to do with the requirement of war, but he would maintain in firmly his standpoint on the franchise question. His speech was warmly applauded.

CABINET PROPOSES MEAT RATIONS FOR PARIS POPULATION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Paris, May 25.—A decision to introduce meat cards at an early date, is understood to have been reached by a conference just held by Premier Briand and other members of the cabinet. Maximum prices will be fixed to prevent hoarding and speculation and severe penalties will be inflicted on violators.

Niagara Falls early today.
In Canada.
Niagara, May 25.—The British war commission crossed the border into Canada this forenoon. After viewing the falls on the American side, they planned to leave for Toronto. On the middle of the suspension bridge the party was met by Sir John Reid, lieutenant governor of Canada, and other Canadian officials.

Violent interruptions greeted this statement, while applause came from some parts of the chamber. The debate was then suspended until tomorrow. In the course of his remarks, Minister Violette referred to speculation in coal and sugar. The price of coal at 800 francs a ton, had been sold to consumers at 800 francs.

The debate in the chamber of deputies or interpellations regarding coal and food deficits continued today. Minister Violette said it was necessary to deprive the civilian population of 10% of its ordinary meat consumption in order to assure the army of the 52,000 head of cattle a month it needed.

Women Workers Strike.
The strike of women workers spread rapidly today and met with considerable success. The milliners, waterproofer and other workers are out. Similar demands by bankers' and brokers' clerks were accepted. With the number of buses, but are being resisted in other cases. The butchers, waiters and grocers' unions are considering joining the strike.

Representatives of the employers and workers of the fur trade reached an agreement tonight and work will be resumed tomorrow.

Washington, May 25.—Another loan of seventy-five million dollars to Great Britain by the United States today, bringing up the total loaned that nation thus far to $400,000,000, and total of loans to allies to $650,000,000. Japan Withdraws Gold.
Japan is withdrawing gold from the United States at a rate which has caused considerable interest and some speculation as to the meaning of the movement. Approximately thirty-five million has been withdrawn since January and other withdrawals are expected in the future.

Officials here feel the movement is not fully accounted for by the balance of trade. The possibility that some of the other allied governments are paying their munition bills to Japan with gold in this country made available by extension of credit by the United States has been discussed, but it is believed this contingency likewise would not account for the strong current of gold shipment westward.

Agree on Modified Censorship.
The cabinet on the espionage bill have drawn a so-called modified newspaper censorship section which will be brought before congress today for inclusion in the pending bill. It must be accepted by both houses to become part of the bill.

The wording of the new section closely prohibited publication exclusively to military information and retains the provision that a jury shall decide whether published information is useful to the enemy. It is considered a much more liberal section than others previously proposed by the administration.

Cut Post Increases.
Elimination of the zone system with increased rates for second class mail matter from the house war revenue bill was voted unanimously today Thursday by the senate finance committee.

Sentiment in the committee is strongly in favor of reducing the total of the bill from $1,800,000 to $1,500,000 and raising the remainder of the money by the issue of short term bonds.

How Our Allies See
Americans Lining Up
For Democracy Cause

Since America entered the war this country is very much in the limelight. Here are some news dispatches, showing how Uncle Sam is figuring in Europe.

Italy Gets Sporty.
Rome, May 25.—The mad of the hour is "anything and everything American." The Romans toast Uncle Sam in Manhattan cocktails, then go and see movies entitled "The Invasion of Italy," "Civilization" and "The Mysteries of New York," the latter a series of shuddering melodramas.

Chews Gum.
London, May 25.—The gum-chewing habit will become firmly saddled on the British public when an American expedition comes over. Already the Canadians have introduced gum to their English brothers-in-arms. Medical folks, in weighty papers, find that the American chicle raises the blood pressure and thereby increases the confidence in the attacking soldier. An American expedition might start the whole empire's jaws wagging.

Admitted to Clubs.
Paris, May 25.—The American Club of Paris has decided to admit all American army and navy officers on duty here in future to become honorary members of the club without payment of fees until the war ends.

Admitted to Clubs.
London, May 25.—American housewives in England are generally observing Lord Devonport's voluntary rationing system. Nearly every American home in London is now restricted to the prescribed four pounds of bread a week, two and one-half pounds of meat and three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Americans, however, are suspected of cheating a little bit at noon by patronizing restaurants for their liberal helpings.

Italy Likes U. S. Cause.
Rome, May 25.—President Wilson and the American people will be the objects of an Italian propaganda show the justice and Italy's claims to the "irredeemable" lands of Trent and Trieste now under Austrian control. The Roman branch of the Trieste association has called for a demonstration in the city on Monday for democratic ideals.

Wants Fighters Honored.
Paris, May 25.—The people of France cannot understand why the American government since declaring war on Germany has not leaped to recognize in a material way the Americans who have long been fighting for the cause of democracy.

The French newspaper, "Le Petit Parisien," printed here, said: "War is it that those few Americans, brave enough to seek voluntarily, while their country was still neutral, risked their own lives and the lives of their citizens who remain? While all those at home are apparently receiving commissions and medals, the soldiers in the French army, unrecognized and unhonored by their mother country?"

ASSEMBLY SPEEDS UP;
HAS MUCH BUSINESS

Madison, May 25.—The assembly tackled its work with a vengeance today.

It occurred in the Baxter bill appropriating $75,000 for the establishment of a state tuberculosis sanitarium in northern Wisconsin.

The bill permitting the sale of land and passage in the assembly, and concurrence was given to the Schultz bill relating to civil service in cities. The bill permitting the sale of land and passage in the assembly, and concurrence was given to the Schultz bill relating to civil service in cities.

The assembly, 30 to 19, passed a bill changing the apportionment of state railway taxes, so that the county will receive 20 per cent, the state 16 per cent, and the town 65 per cent.

The conservation bill carrying an appropriation of $217,000, for the Wisconsin measure appropriating $37,500 annually for demonstrations in stump pulling in northern Wisconsin under the supervision of the university.

The senate laid over until June 6 the Pullen bill to give the banks the option of taxation under the income tax law.

The Ragouze (socialist) bill to establish a minimum wage law in the state, was killed. Opposition to the advancement was based on the fact that the state had adopted a policy of leaving minimum wage to the industrial commission.

The senate passed the Everett bill providing for regulation of the insurance industry. The bill had been amended, requiring that rates be reasonable. The Arnold constitutional amendment bill, which would give cities the right to regulate for cities was ordered to a third reading.

The Vaughn bill prohibiting saloons on islands of the Mississippi river was passed.

FARM WORK TOO HEAVY FOR EIGHT CITY LADS

Marinette, May 25.—Eight boys sent from the city of Chicago to work on farms near Marinette, have returned after four days spent with the hoe and shovel. The work was too arduous for them and they asked to be permitted to return. The farmers wanted the regular army of boys and took the first train home. Their muscles were too tender for farm work and their lame backs and tired legs indicated that they were all in.

DOCTORS AGAINST LIQUOR INDUSTRY

Marinette, May 25.—At a meeting of the physicians of Marinette and Florence county, resolutions were adopted favoring enactment of laws, prohibiting manufacture of alcoholic drinks from grain during the war.

JANESVILLE RATES TO EASTERN POINTS ORDERED REDUCED

Railroad Tariffs From Wisconsin Cities to Trunk Line Tariff Affected By Commission Ruling.

According to a dispatch from Washington today, the interstate commerce commission has ordered a reduction in tariff rates effective June 30 next between points in New England, New York and middle Atlantic states, and La Crosse, Janesville, Madison, Beloit, Stoughton and Watertown. The reduction is based, according to the dispatch, on the New York Chicago rate. Secretary P. V. Kuhn of the Janesville Commercial club, who is familiar with the railroad rate situation as affecting Janesville, stated that he did not know of any effort from Wisconsin cities to secure a reduction in the eastern points, known in traffic circles as trunk line territory. He thought it probable, however, that application for the reduction was made by eastern firms who have large business dealings with Wisconsin merchants.

This decision is not with regard to the famous Winona rate case in which Janesville and other Wisconsin cities are interested, since the Winona case sought reductions merely in Central freight association territory, which extends as far east as Western New York and Western Pennsylvania. The Winona case of determining rates for this territory has already been denied, and the other cities were given notice in effect is lower than the former tariff schedule.

Just how much of a reduction in tariff the ruling mentioned today is, since it is merely stated that it is made on a Chicago-New York basis. If this should be taken to mean that Janesville and the other cities were given the same rate from eastern points as Chicago, it would affect a large saving in freight charges, amounting to 18 cents a hundred for first class freight, 22 cents for second class, 19c for third class and 17c for fourth class. This would be especially acceptable to merchants and to a number of manufacturing firms of this city, especially those who make large shipments east or receive merchandise or raw materials from eastern points.

CONSIDER REPAIRS TO COUNTY ASYLUM

Supervisors Spent Afternoon Going Over Buildings at County Farm to Ascertain Needs.

Members of the county board of supervisors spent the afternoon at the county farm, where they inspected the buildings upon which elaborate repairs are to be made in the near future. George W. Slightham, chairman of the board, and other representatives from the state department at Madison were present to assist the supervisors in going over the grounds. The repairs which have been recommended for immediate attention include a new sewage disposal system, extensive changes in the wiring of the almshouse and new heating system, new floors, walls redecorated and other details, all of which have been listed for the information of the board members. The building committee has been ordered to make an effort to be made to ascertain which repairs it is imperative to make at once. It is estimated that the cost will amount to $25,000 to $40,000.

The board met at ten-thirty o'clock this morning in the new quarters provided on the third floor of the court house as a result of the remodeling which was done this spring. Chairman Simon Smith of Beloit called the meeting to order. It was ordered that the board should meet on June 11, at which time the repair work at the county farm will be fully considered and action taken.

The board also resolved itself into a committee of the whole, with Vice Chairman John A. Paul of Milton in the chair. Under this organization the trip was made to the county farm this afternoon.

SCHOOL BOARD ENTERTAINED BY DOMESTIC SCIENCE GIRLS

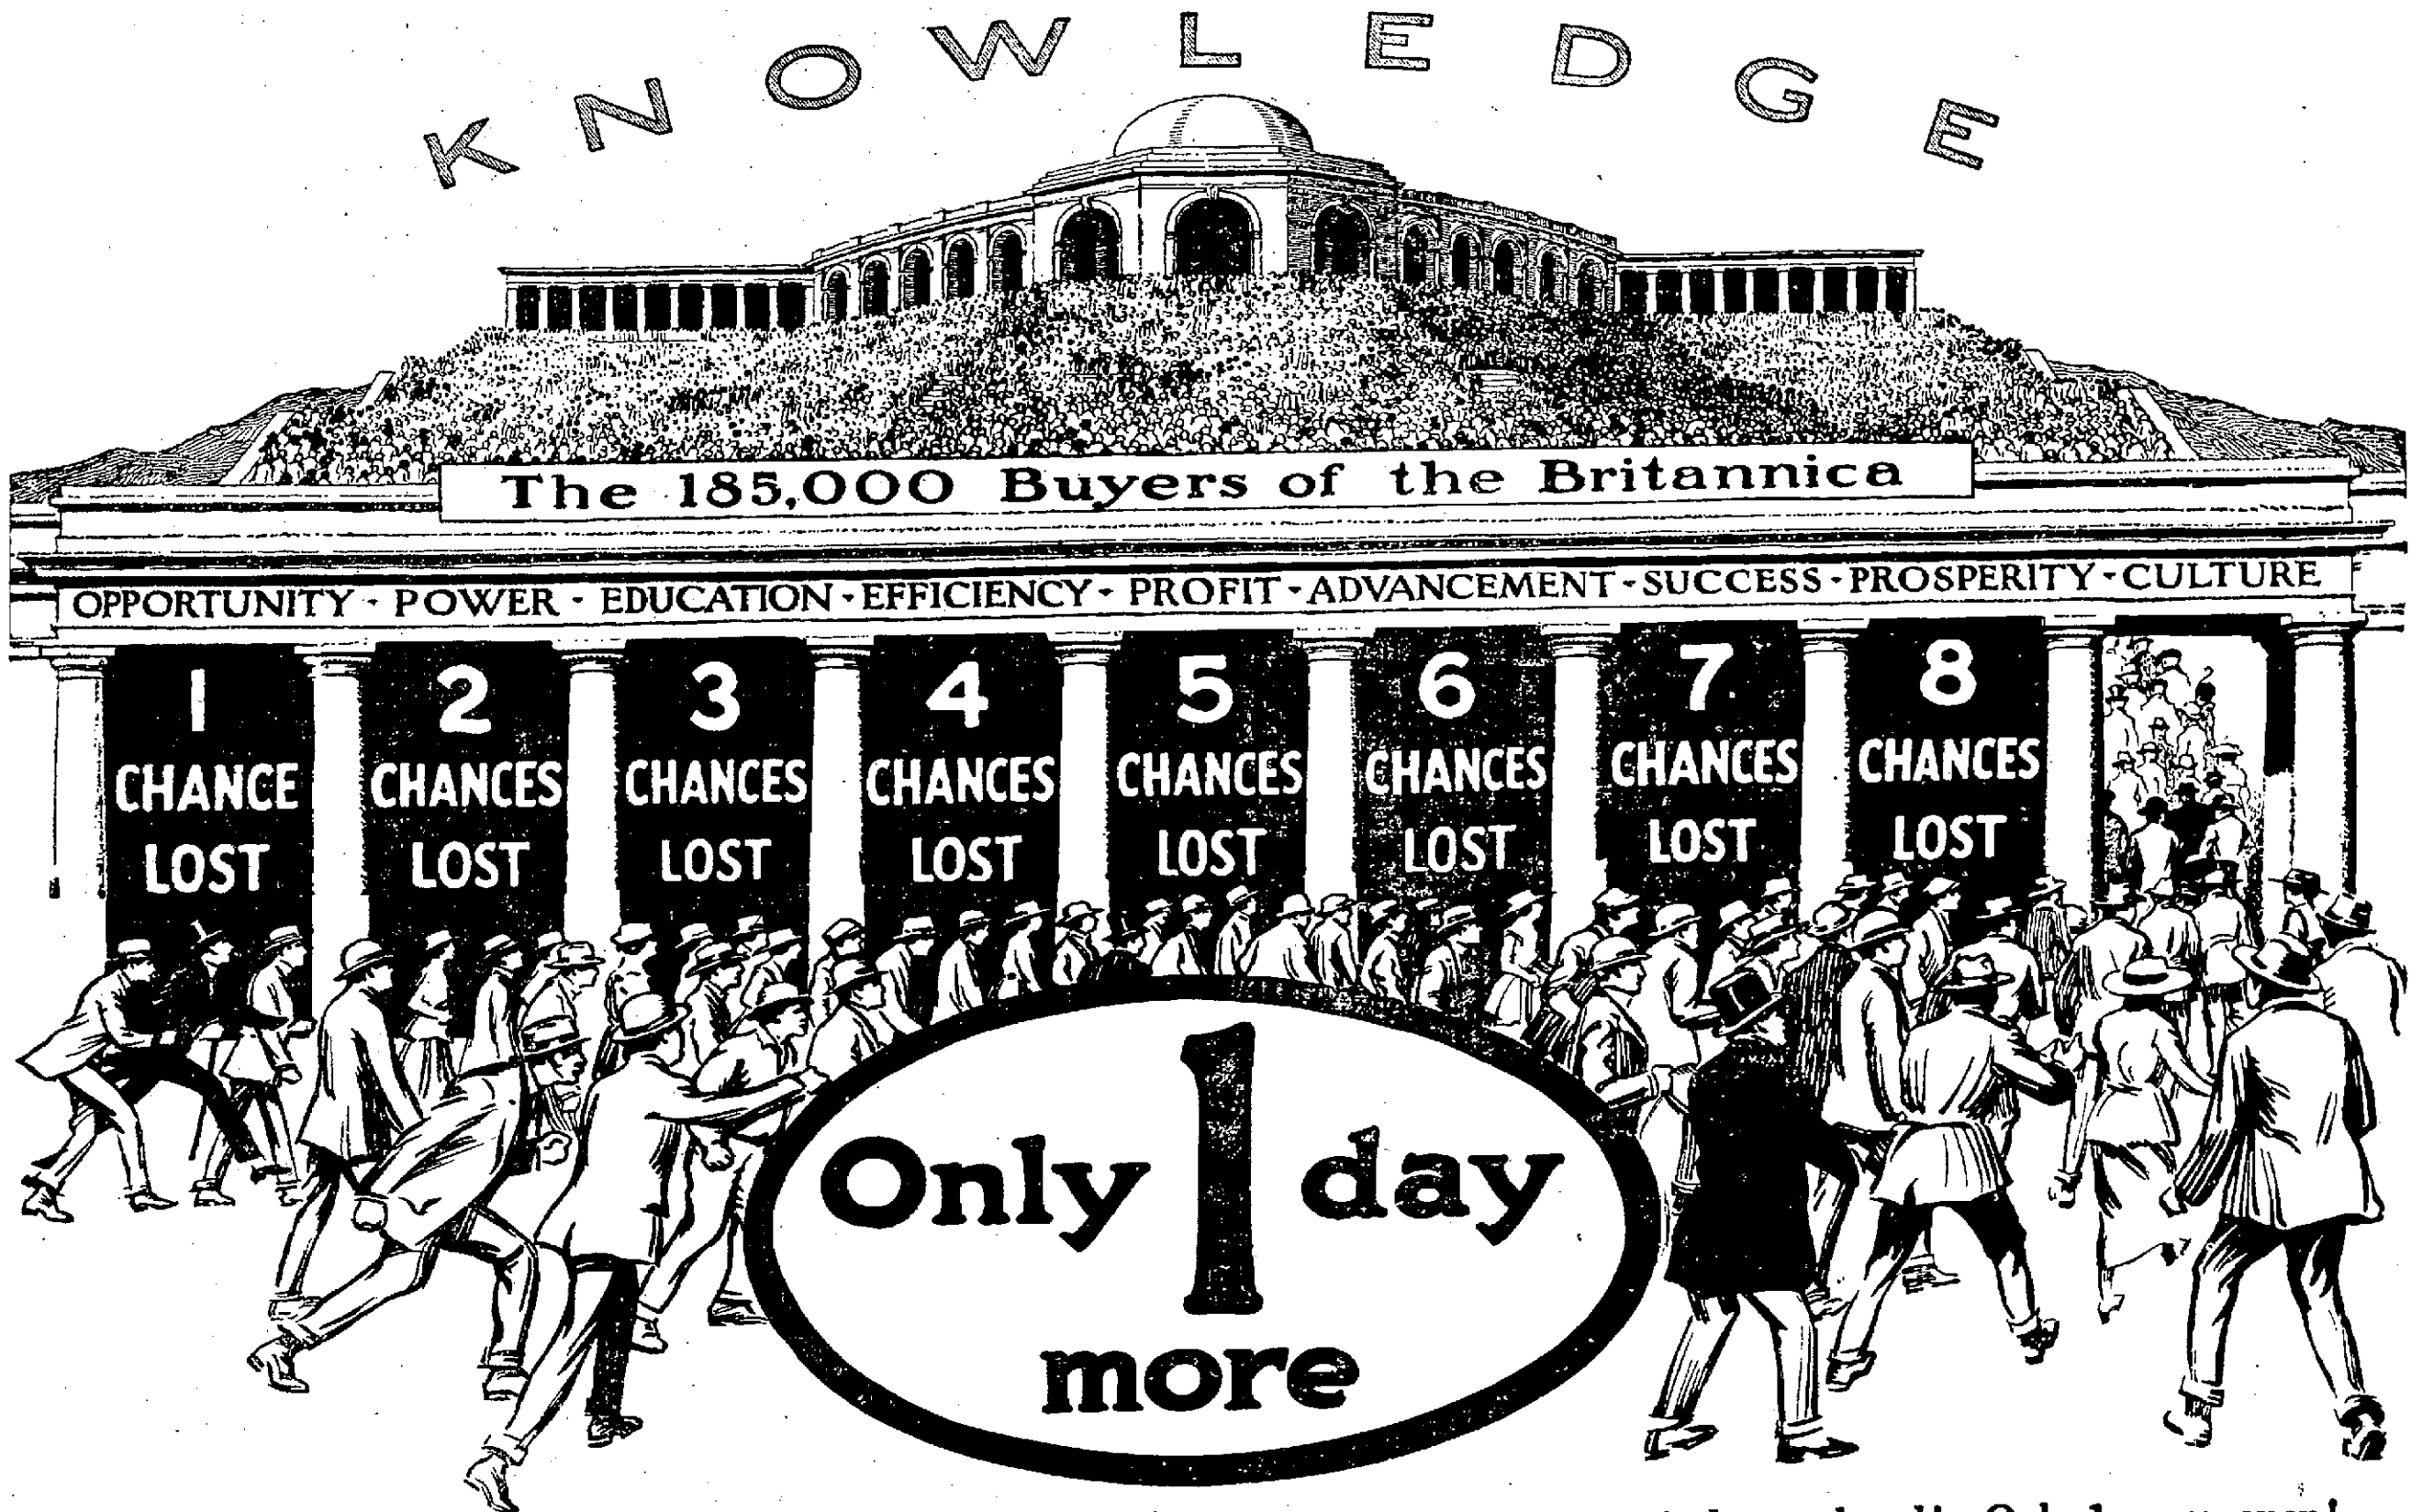

Henceforth none will dare dispute the ultimate efficiency of the department of home economics at the local high school in the presence of any member of the school board for the culinary skill and domestic proficiency of a large class in that department was forcibly demonstrated to the board members, Superintendent Faust and his wives, and Principal Shearor, in a dinner given last evening at the school by the sophomore cooking class under Miss Graham.

Five courses, conceived in a spirit of economy and palatability, and dedicated to the appetites of the board members, were prepared and served by the girls themselves. In a number of short talks expressions of gratitude and appreciation were bestowed upon the girls and high commendation of the work done was made "all around."

Superintendent Faust, acting as the major domo of the occasion, called upon a number of the guests, who without exception paid a handsome tribute to the work of Mr. Shearor during the four years of his administration as principal of the high school.

OBITUARY. Leslie Robert Treat. Funeral services for the late Leslie Robert Treat will be held Saturday afternoon at half past two from the chapel at Oak Hill cemetery, where interment will be made. The service will be that of the Christian Science church.

This was highest. Without the Encyclopaedia I could not have secured this excellent position."

A NEW VOLUME ABOUT THE WAR

THE publishers of The Encyclopaedia Britannica announce that they have made arrangements for the issue, as soon after the end of the war as possible, of a new volume, containing a full and authoritative history of the war. The new volume will be written by scholars and experts of the same high character as those who wrote for the Britannica itself, and by many of its own contributors. It will be absolutely impartial, excluding all partisan feeling and prejudice. It will contain:

1. A judicial account of the real causes of the war, the progress of the struggle, and the results all over the world; with maps, as necessary, to show changes in boundaries.
2. The lives of the new leaders, whether civil, military or naval, in the belligerent countries.
3. The results of the war outside the sphere of fighting, the progress of surgery, the prevention of contagious disease, the new scientific discoveries, etc.

The new volume will bridge the gap between the days of peace before and after the war. It will be printed and bound to match the Britannica and the publishers guarantee that no matter how difficult and costly the supplementary volume may be from the editorial point of view, the price of it to all who purchase the Britannica during the present sale will not be more than that of a corresponding volume of the Britannica.

H. S. Sutherland President.

The time has come when you must decide and order. That is the whole story.

Today there is no use in telling you what the Britannica is, how valuable it will be to you in your work, what an advantage it will give you and your family to own it. You know now whether you want it or not. There is only one thing left for you to consider—will you order or not?

Unless you order NOW you will NEVER be able to buy the Britannica printed on genuine India paper. Because there is no more India paper for printing the Britannica. And no more can be made—war makes it impossible to import the flax and hemp for making India paper.

If you KNOW you want the Britannica, sign the "Reserve" Order Form in the corner of this announcement, attach a dollar bill to it and mail it just as quickly as you can.

If you are almost sure you need the Britannica, but want to be positive before you order, go to the store named here and ask to see the entire set. If the books convince you that the Britannica will be useful and helpful to you, leave your order in the store and make your first payment of $1.00. The entire 29 volumes will be sent you at once and you will have them to use and profit by while you pay for them.

This advertisement, in order to reach the newspapers of the extreme East, West and South had to be prepared and sent out ten days ago. At that time we estimated that the remaining sets of the "Handy Volume" Britannica—the last in the entire world—would take care of all orders mailed us on or before Saturday, May 26th. But orders have been increasing so rapidly that the last set may be gone before this.

BUT—Do not let this possibility delay you. Send your order TODAY! Every minute now is precious if you are really anxious to own and profit by the knowledge the Britannica will bring you.

(If the last set is sold before your order is received, your money will be returned to you immediately.)

Whitewater News

Whitewater, May 25.—Mrs. A. E. Midgley and daughter have returned from Eagle Pass, Texas, last night. Mrs. Midgley is still in the service and may be sent abroad.

Mrs. George Godfrey of Milwaukee is visiting at the C. W. Treat home. Dr. S. E. Higgins, H. P. Goodman, A. Eversen, E. D. Waters, John Parker, G. C. Chaffee, Van Brockling and Sturdevant were at Evansville Wednesday attending the district convention of the I. O. O. F.

The ball game here Sunday will be with Watertown, and every effort will be made to beat the leaders. King has been given his release, and no doubt Koeber will be brought in from left field for second base, and a new hard hitting fielder secured.

William Riesenbergh has returned to his home at Devil's Lake, North Dakota, after a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Riesenbergh.

Archie Mule is visiting friends here a few days.

A miscellaneous shower was given for Miss Maudie Niquet at the home of Miss Carrie Feldner last evening.

The body of Newton Kimball was brought here for burial yesterday in Hillside cemetery. The attendance was the largest that has been in this vicinity for many years.

An Incontinent Burglar.
A man who is given to doing odd jobs about his house was very proud of a bit of painting he had accomplished.

About midnight following the completion of the outside of the house he was awakened by a noise. Creeping to the window, he looked out and, to his horror, saw a burglar climbing up a ladder to the second story window.

"Look out there!" yelled the householder to the burglar. "Look out for the paint!"—Exchange.

Religious articles for sale. Crucifixes, prayer books, etc., at St. Joseph's convent.

ASSEMBLY FAVORABLE
ON LABOR MEASURE

Madison, Wis., May 25.—A bill of far reaching effect in the interests of labor organizations has been sent to engrossment in the assembly by a three to one vote. The bill curtails the power of courts in the issuance of restraining orders and injunctions in labor disputes, and limits the meaning of conspiracy. The measure was introduced by Assemblyman Turner of Milwaukee. A similar bill passed the assembly two years ago, but was defeated in the senate. The large vote on engrossment in the assembly indicates that the bill will pass the house again this year, and that the fight on the measure will be made in the senate.

The measure provides that no person shall be indicted, prosecuted or tried in any court in this state for entering into or carrying on any agreement or arrangement or combination between themselves made with a view of lessening the number of hours of labor or increasing wages, or bettering the conditions of working men. No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court in this state or court commissioner in any case between an employer or employers, or employees or employees, or between persons employed, or persons seeking employment, involving or growing out of, a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent an irreparable injury to property, or to a property right. The person making the application to a judge for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, must describe with particularity in the application, and the applicant must swear to these facts: That such restraint, order or injunction shall prohibit any person, whether single or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment, or from causing to perform any work or labor, or from recommending, advising or persuading others by peaceful means so to do. It declares that no order shall be issued for ceasing to patronize or to employ any party to such dispute, or from paying or giving to, or withholding from any persons engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits, or other money or thing of value, or from peaceably assembling in a lawful manner and for lawful purposes.

The labor of a human being shall be held and construed not to be a commodity or article of commerce. The right to enter into the relation of employer and employee, or to change that relation, or to assume and create a new relation for employer and employee, or to perform and carry on business with any person in any place, or to do work and labor as an employee, shall be held and construed to be a personal and not a property right. In all cases involving the violation of the contract of employment, either by the employer or the employee, where no irreparable damage is about to be committed upon the property or property right of either, no injunction shall be granted, but the parties shall be left to their remedy at law.

COMMISSIONS TO 4
UNIVERSITY MEN

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., May 25.—Four students who went with the men to Fort Sheridan to take the course in intensive drill, have been granted commissions by the war department. Paul Taylor, Herman Zischke, Benjamin Harper and Carmen Smith, track captain, have been commissioned as second lieutenants as a result of the examinations they took in Chicago a few days ago. The men have returned to Madison and will remain here until they are summoned to some training station. Nine men took the examinations from the university, but only the four were successful.

Word has been received that Phil Stiles, holder of the conference record in the broad jump, has enlisted in the marines. Stiles was a student at Culver previous to his coming to Wisconsin, and it was from there that he received the recommendation.

The Man Without A Country

By EDWARD EVERETT HALE

"Mr. Nolan, we are all very grateful to you today. You are one of us today. You will be named in the dispatches." And then the old man took off his own sword of ceremony and gave it to Nolan and made him put it on. The man told me this who saw it. Nolan cried like a baby, and well he might. He had not worn a sword since that infernal day at Fort Adams.

The captain did mention him in the dispatches. It was always said he asked that he might be pardoned. He wrote a special letter to the secretary of war. But nothing ever came of it. As I said, that was about the time when they began to ignore the whole transaction at Washington.

PART II.
NOLAN must have been in every sea and yet almost never on land. He told me once, with a grave smile, that no man in the world lived so methodical a life as he.

"You know the boys say I am the Iron Mask, and you know how busy he was." He said it did not do for any one to try to read all the time more than to do anything else all the time, but that he read just five hours a day. "Then," he said, "I keep up my notebooks, writing in them at such and such hours from what I have been reading, and I include in them my scraps of books." These were very curious indeed. He had six or eight, of different subjects. There was one of history, one of natural science, one which he called "odds and ends." But they were not merely books of extracts from newspapers. They had bits of plants and ribbons, shells tied on and cased scraps of bone and wood, which he had taught the men to cut for him, and they were beautifully illustrated.

Will he grew very old, he always went aloft a great deal. He always kept up his exercise, and I never heard that he was ill. If any other man was ill he was the kindest nurse in the world, and he knew more than half the surgeons do. Then if anybody was sick or died, or if the captain wanted him to on any other occasion, he was always ready to read prayers. I have remarked that he read beautifully.

My own acquaintance with Phil Nolan began six or eight years after the war, on my first voyage after I was appointed a midshipman. It was in the first days after our slave trade treaty, while the reigning house, which was still the house of Virginia, had still a sort of sentimentalism about the suppression of the horrors of the Middle Passage, and something was sometimes done that way. I first came to understand anything about "the man without a country" one day when we overhauled a dirty little schooner which had slaves on board. An officer was sent to take charge of her, and after a few minutes he sent back his boat to ask that some one might be sent him who could speak Portuguese. We were all looking over the hull when the message came, and we all wished we could interpret when the captain asked who spoke Portuguese. But none of the officers did, and just as the captain was sending forward to ask if any of the people could, Nolan stepped out and said he should be glad to interpret if the captain wished, as he understood the language. The captain thanked him, fitted out another boat with him, and in this boat it was my luck to go.

When we got there it was such a scene as you seldom see and never want to. Nastiness beyond account, and chaos run loose in the midst of the nastiness. The negroes were, most of them, out of the hold and swarming all round the dirty deck, with a central throng surrounding Vaughan and addressing him in every dialect and patois of a dialect from the Zulu click up to the Parisian of Beledjereed.

As we came on deck Vaughan looked down from a hoghead on which he had mounted in desperation and said: "For God's love, is there anybody who can make these wretches understand something?" Nolan said he could speak Portuguese and one or two fine looking Kroomen were dragged out, who, as it had been found already, had worked for the Portuguese at Fernando Po. "Tell them they are free," said Vaughan, "and tell them that these rascals are to be hanged as soon as we can get rope enough."

Nolan explained it in such Portuguese as the Kroomen could understand and they in turn to such of the negroes as could understand them. Then there was such a yell of delight, clenching of fists, leaping and dancing, kissing of Nolan's feet and a general rush made to the hoghead by way of spontaneous worship of Vaughan as the deus ex machina of the occasion.

"Tell them," said Vaughan, well pleased, "that I will take them all to Cape Palmas." This did not answer so well. Cape Palmas was practically as far from the homes of most of them as New Orleans or Rio Janeiro was—that is, they would be eternally separated from home there. And their interpreters, as we could understand, instantly said, "Ah, non Palmas," and began to propose infinite other expedients in most voluble language. Vaughan was rather disappointed at this result of his liberality and asked Nolan eagerly what they said. The drops stood on poor Nolan's white forehead as he hushed the men down, and said: (TO BE CONTINUED.)

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

The children are in the movies because the movies would be dreary without them. Almost the first appeal of the moving picture was to the children. They discovered the pictures long before their parents did and it was their insistence that attracted the attention of their elders to the new thing in amusements.

Mother and daddy soon began to sit up and take notice and very soon the entire family was attending the movies as an essential part of the day's business. But soon objection began to be made because the plays written for grownups were often objectionable for children. Animation began for children's plays and the little folk came trooping into the pictures. Their influence has been for better things and the day is coming when there will be features for children the same as for grown people.

Stick a pin there. The purest stories of history or mythology, "The Thousand and One Nights," "The Arabian Nights," "The Bible," "Robinson Crusoe," "The Swiss Family Robinson," "The Swiss Family Robinson," etc., etc., all will be put into the pictures in a way to delight both children and adults.

Good days are coming for the pictures that move, and the song of the critic shall be no longer heard in the land, for inducements are at work both inside and outside the motion picture industry to bring about a better understanding between the producer and the masses who pay the nickels and dimes to see the pictures.

In "The Candy Girl," in which Gladys Hulette will soon be seen, she avers that pounds and pounds of candy were used. She says that for this reason, if for no other, the picture will be a success, for ill tempered children and grouchy men brighten up when there are sweets around.

The film version of Henrik Ibsen's well-known play, "A Doll's House," has been produced by Bluebird, featuring Dorothy Phillips, Len Chaney and William Stowell.

Louise Glauum is featured in "Love or Justice," a strong melodrama by Lambert Hillyer. Miss Glauum is supported by Charles Gunn and Jack swaved when traveling through the water, and the ravenous wolves of the sea searching for food may pass it a dozen times a day without suspecting that the innocent looking fish of seaweed is really a fish.

CAPTAIN'S DAUGHTER
ACTIVE WAR WORKER

Miss Phyllis Boyd, daughter of Captain Boyd of the British army, is actively engaged in war service. Her activities have on several occasions won her public commendation and she has been the subject of several eulogies in the public prints of the British capital.

SENATOR'S KIN TO MARRY GUARDSMAN

The engagement of Miss Marion Bankhead, granddaughter of Senator and Mrs. Bankhead of Alabama, to Captain Carl McMahon of the national guard of Alabama, has just been announced. Miss Bankhead is one of the popular members of the younger set in the national capital. A want ad will rent that house.

Madeline Headley. Little Madeline, aged five, with big, sparkling, blue eyes, is Mary Miles Minter's "discovery." She appeared for the first time in Miss Minter's latest picture, "Annie-for-Spice."

Richardson. Carmen Derrue appears in movies only by fading in and fading out, as she always impersonates fairies.

Maggie Breyer is in the movies now. For sixteen years she appeared in "The Old Homestead."

Not an American Proverb.

Homer sometimes nods, even nowadays. The Saturday Review is responsible for the statement that the proverb "Honesty is the best policy" was improved in the United States into "Make money—honestly if you can, but make it." Quintus Horatius Flaccus was not an American citizen and the great American republic was not thought of for a good many centuries after he penned his famous injunction, "Rem facere, recte si posses." (Do a thing, but do it right if possible).—London Globe.

Going It Blind.

At a military dinner the following was on the toast list of a veteran's health: "May this hero, who has lost one eye in the glorious service of his beloved country, never see distress with the other." But the person whose duty it was to read the toast changed the sentiment and caused no end of merriment by unintentionally omitting the word "distress," so that the toast read, "And may he never see with the other."—Ex. change.

The Crown of Hungary. The crown of Hungary was once within an ace of landing in London. When Kossuth struck his famous blow for Hungarian liberty in 1849 he obtained possession of the crown, and when compelled to flee the country he buried it at Oradea. Four years later a flood made him fear for the safety of the precious diadem, and he gave orders for it to be disinterred and brought to him in London. Unfortunately one of his messengers talked indiscreetly of his errand, with the consequence that the Austrian government gained knowledge of the secret and unearthed the crown on Sept. 8, 1853.—London Telegraph.

MOTHER SAID TRY IT

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Copner after Doctor Failed.

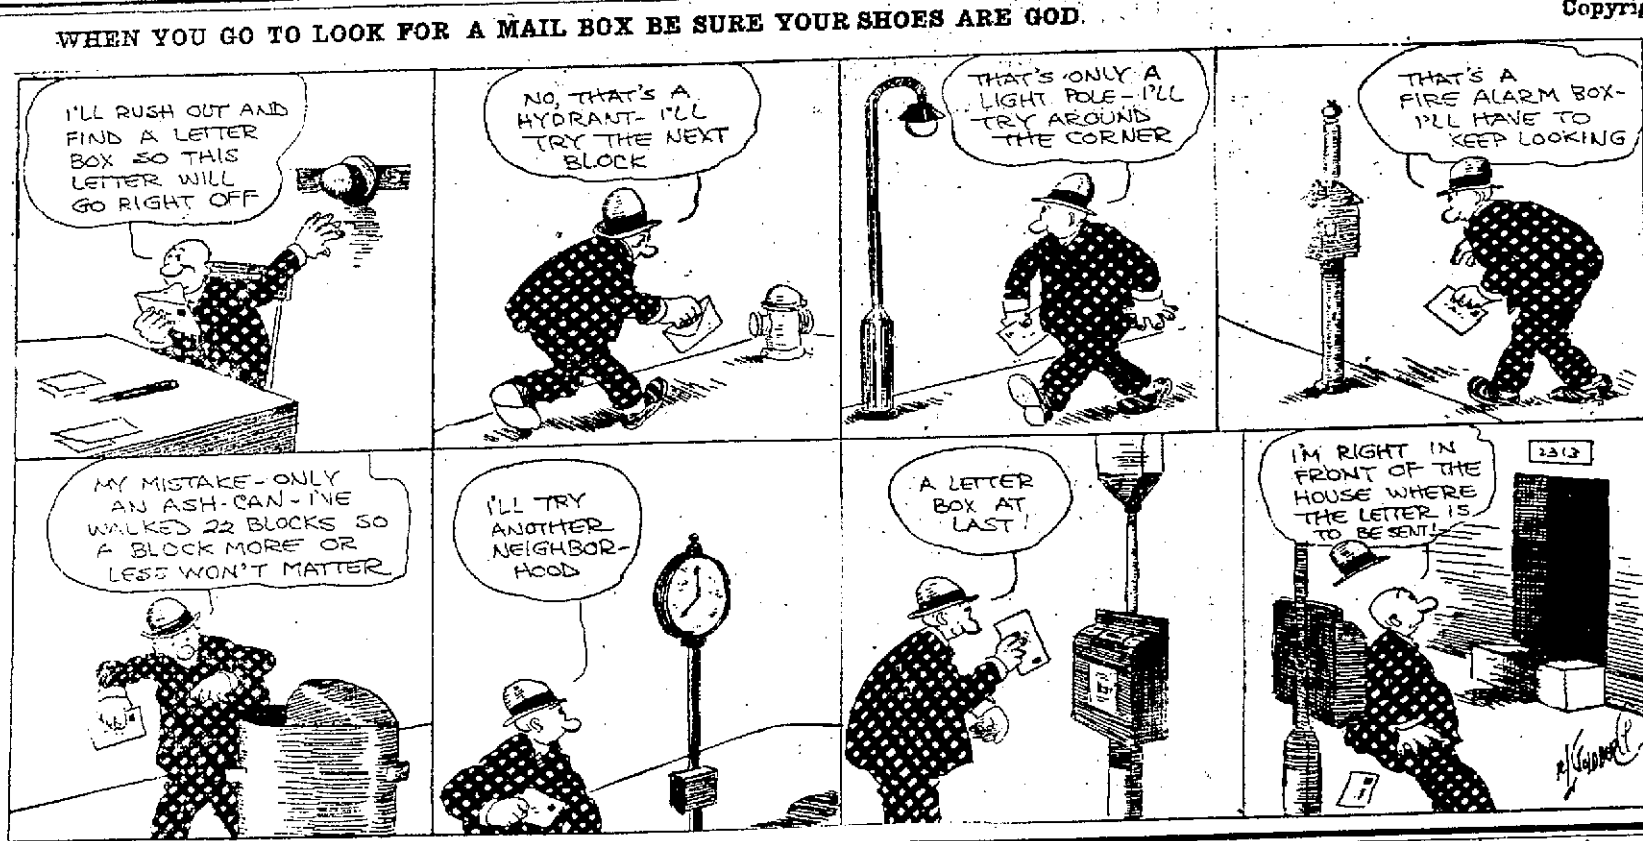

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I want you to know the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was in such bad health from female troubles that I could hardly get off my bed. I had been doctoring for a long time and my mother said, 'I want you to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I did, and it has certainly made me a well woman. I am able to do my house work and am so happy as I never expected to go around the way I do again, and I want others to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

—Mrs. J. J. COPNER, 1668 Harrison Ave., Fairmont, Cincinnati, Ohio.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from choice roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

CIVIL ENGINEER

"If it's all the same to you," announced the newcomer amiably—the chief's laughter was infectious—"I'm agreeable to Jones, or Brown, or—"

"We have numbers of all of those, too."

"Really," said the man hesitatingly, "I haven't given the subject any thought."

"What about some of your family names?"

"That gives me an idea," said the newcomer, who decided to use his mother's name, "you can call me Roberts."

"And I suppose John for the prefix?"

"John will do as well as any, I am sure."

"We have about fifty Johns. Every Smith appears to have been born John."

"How did you arrange it?" asked the other with during freedom, for a roddan does not enter conversation on terms of equality with the chief engineer.

"I got a little pocket dictionary down at the town with a list of names and I went through that list with the Smiths, dealing them out in order. Well, that will do for your name," he said, making a memorandum in the little book he pulled out of his flannel shirt pocket.

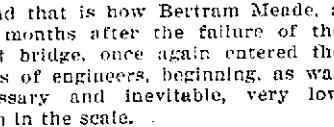

He turned to a man who had come up to the level. "Smith," he said—"by the way this is Mr. Claude Smith, Mr. Roberts—here's your new roddan. You know your job, Roberts. Get to work."

And that is how Bertram Meade, a few months after the failure of the great bridge, once again entered the ranks of engineers, beginning, as was necessary and inevitable, very low down in the scale.

CHAPTER XI.

The Valley of Decision.

Much water had run under the bridges of the world and incidentally over the wreck of the International.

He Debated With Himself Whether It Would Not Be Better to End It Than to Live.

since that bitter farewell between Bertram Meade and Helen Hingworth over the grave of the old engineer, life had seemed to hold absolutely nothing for Meade as he knelt by that low mound and watched the woman walk slowly away with many a backward glance, with many a pause, obviously reluctant. He realized that the lifting of a hand would have called her back. How hard it was for him to remain quiet; and, finally, before she disappeared and before she took her last look at him, to turn his back resolutely as if to mark the termination of the situation.

Father, fame, reputation, love, taken away at one and the same moment! A weaker man might have sent life to follow.

low. In the troubled days after the fall of the bridge, his father's death, the inquests, his testimony and evidence freely given, and that parting, something like despair had filled the young engineer's heart. Life held nothing. He debated with himself whether it would not be better to end it than to live it. He envied his father his broken heart. Singularly enough, the thing that made life at least value was the thing that kept him from throwing it away—the woman.

Striving to analyze the complex emotions that centered about his losses he was forced to admit, although it seemed a sign of weakness, that love of woman was greater than love of fame, that in the balance one girl outweighed bridge and father. That the romance was ended was what made life insupportable. Yet the faint, vague possibility that it might be resumed if he could find some way to show his worthiness was what made him cling to it.

Of course he could have showed without much difficulty and beyond peradventure at the inquest over Abbott and the investigation into the cause of the failure of the bridge—unfortunate but too obvious—that the frightful and fatal error in the design was not his and that he had protested against the accepted plan, if only he had found the letter addressed to his father. But that he would never do and the letter had not been discovered anyway. He did not even regret the bold falsehood he had uttered or the practical subornation of perjury of which he had been guilty in drawing out and accepting and emphasizing Shurtliff's testimony.

There had been no inquest over his father's death. The autopsy had showed clearly heart failure. He had not been compelled to go to the witness stand and under oath as to that. Although, if that had been demanded, he must needs have gone through with it, indeed so prompt and public had been his avowals of responsibility that he had not been seriously questioned thereon. He had left nothing uncertain. There was nothing concealed.

He had inherited a competence from his father. It was indeed much more than he or anyone had expected. He had realized enough ready money from the sale of certain securities for his present needs. The remainder he placed in Shurtliff's care and a few days after the funeral, having settled everything possible, he took a train for the West.

The whole world was before him, and he was measurably familiar with many portions of it. He could have buried himself in out-of-the-way corners of far countries, in strange continents. These possibilities did not attract him. He wanted to get away from, out of touch with, the life he had led. He wished to go to some place where he could be practically alone, where he could have time to recover his poise, to think things out, to plan his future, to try to devise a means for rehabilitation, if it were possible. He could do that just as well, perhaps better, in America than in any place else. And there was another reason that held him to his native land. He would still tread the same soil, breathe the same air, with the woman. He did not desire to put seas between them.

He swore to himself that the freedom he had offered her, that he had indeed forced upon her unwilling and rejecting it, should be no empty thing so far as he was concerned. He would leave her absolutely untrammelled. He would not write to her or communicate with her in any way. He would not even seek her to hear about her and of course as she would not know whether he had gone or where he was she could not communicate with him. The silence that had fallen between them should not be broken even forever unless and until—Ah, yes, he could not see any way to complete that "unless and until" at first, but perhaps after a while he might.

He knew exactly where he would go. Dick Winters, another classmate and devoted friend at Cambridge, had gone out West shortly after graduation. He had a big cattle ranch miles from a railroad in a young southwestern state. Winters, like the other member of the youthful triumvirate, Rodney, was a bachelor. He could be absolutely depended upon. He had often begged Meade to visit him. The engineer would do it now. He knew Winters would respect his moods, that he would let him severely alone, that he could get on a horse and ride into the hills and do what he pleased, think out his thoughts undisturbed.

To Winters, therefore, he had gone. He had an idea that his future would be outside of engineering. Indeed he had put all thought of his chosen profession out of his mind and heart, at least so he fancied. Yet, spending an idle forenoon in Chicago waiting for the departure of the western train, he found himself irresistibly drawn to the great steel-framed structures, the skyscrapers rising gaunt and rigid above the other buildings of the city.

Again the train was delayed and held up for half an hour just as it reached the Mississippi river. He left his seat in the dining car, his dinner uneaten on the table, to go out and inspect the bridge during the half-hour that the "limited" lay idle. The next day some enormous irrigation works in western Nebraska so engrossed his attention and aroused his interest that in spite of himself he stopped over between trains to see them. And these actions were typical.

Yet after every one of these excursions back into his own field, his conscience smote him. Was he never to get away from this engineering? Was there nothing else for him but brick and stone, steel and concrete, designs and plans and undertaking and accomplishment in the world? Because it was the thing that he must abandon and put out of his mind, engineering seemed the only thing he cared for. There would be no engineering on that ranch on the slopes of the range. He could settle the question there.

Winters was glad to see him. He and Rodney and Meade had been the warmest of friends. Of course Meade could not tell Rodney the truth on account of his newspaper connections, but he decided finally that he could and would tell Winters under assurance of absolute secrecy. For one thing the big cattleman had bluntly refused to credit his friend's first statements; and, when he at last heard the truth, he blamed him roundly while he appreciated fully the nobleness of his self-sacrifice. The clear-headed, practical Winters put it this way: Meade was capable of doing splendid service to humanity as an engineer and made fair to be even greater than his father, yet for the sake of the fame of a dead man, to whom after all it would matter little, he had thrown away that splendid opportunity!

This was a new thought to Meade and a disturbing one. Unfortunately, as even Winters was forced to acknowledge, the suggestion came too late. The course had been entered upon. It would be cowardly to try to change it now. Indeed it would have been impossible with the disappearance of the written protests and notes. Even if Shurtliff had been willing, no one would have believed a delayed retraction and explanation, and Shurtliff would not have been willing, Meade well knew. Neither for that matter was Meade himself. He was glad that the affair had been settled and would not change it even now though Winters' rough-and-ready presentation of the situation disquieted him.

ONLY ONE IN FOUR FIT FOR ARMY TEST

By CAPTAIN GEORGE L. KILMER.

In the regular army three out of four applicants are rejected for physical defects, some of which could be remedied if known beforehand. Defective eyes, ears and teeth are the principal causes. Type three-fourths of an inch high must be read at twenty feet. Ears that can hear whispers or low tones at twenty feet will pass. Certain teeth must be perfect or properly filled "grinders."

Weight, chest measure and expansion come next. In these, faults may sometimes be remedied before risking a test. The requirements are: At 5 feet 4 inches, weight 120 pounds, chest measure at least 30 inches, with chest expansion 2 inches. At 5 feet 5 inches, weight 125 pounds, chest 30 inches, expansion 2 inches. At 5 feet 6 inches, weight 130 pounds, chest 31 inches, expansion 2 inches. At 5 feet 7 inches, weight 135 pounds, chest 32 inches, expansion 2 inches. At 5 feet 8 inches, weight 140 pounds, chest 33 inches, expansion 2 inches. At 5 feet 9 inches, weight 145 pounds, chest 34 inches, expansion 2 inches. At 5 feet 10 inches, weight 150 pounds, chest 35 inches, expansion 2 inches. At 5 feet 11 inches, weight 155 pounds, chest 36 inches, expansion 2 inches. At 5 feet 12 inches, weight 160 pounds, chest 37 inches, expansion 2 inches.

For six footers the scale begins with 140 pounds, 32½ chest, 3 inches expansion. For every added inch up to 4 the weight increases 7 pounds, chest increases ½ an inch with 3 inch expansion up to 6 feet 4, which is 3½. Underweight, bad teeth and faulty chest development may be remedied where the defects are not serious. Among the exercises recommended by army experts to be taken before reaching camp are those which will reduce the waist, strengthen, limber or harden muscles and joints and develop the chest. The proper exercises for the purpose are known to every athlete.

Dinner Stories

The inspector was examining a school and all the class had been specially told beforehand by its teacher, "Don't answer unless you are almost certain your answer is correct."

The subject was history.

"Who," asked the inspector, "was the mother of the great Scottish hero and king, Robert Bruce?"

"He pointed to the boy in front of him, then round the class. There was no answer. Then at last the heart of the teacher leaped with joy. The boy who was standing at the very foot indicated that he knew.

"Well, my boy," continued the inspector, "who was she?"

"Mrs. Bruce," said the lad.

Election time was drawing near and an enthusiastic politician was addressing his constituents in a frenzied speech. Not a few of his assertions, reduced to cold thought, were diametrically opposed to one another, but each proposal was received with applause.

A judge turned to his companion and said:

"This reminds me of the Irish leader who was cheering his men on to battle. 'Min,' said he, 'ye are on the verge of battle, an' I want to ask ye be fore ye start, will yez fight or will yez run?'"

"We will," came a chorus of eager replies.

KIDNEY & CO.

The kidneys and the skin work in harmony. They're companions, the skin being the second partner. If we are anxious to keep well and preserve the vitality of the kidneys and, also, free the blood from noxious elements, we must pay special attention to a good action of the skin and to see that the kidneys are flushed so as to eliminate the uric acid from the blood. Rheumatism and other distressing symptoms, as backache, headache, gout, disappear if you get rid of the uric acid.

Flush the kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water, with meals and between meals. Occasionally obtain at the nearest drug store—Anuric, which will help flush the kidneys and the intestines. Ask for Anuric, discovered by Dr. Pierce.

"Which will ye do?" said he. "We will not," says they. "Aha, thank ye, me min!" says he. "I thought ye would."

A chemist had a violent dispute with his wife, who finally gave way to tears.

"Your tears do not effect me in the least," he said. "I have analyzed them and they contain a little phosphate of calcium and a little chloride of sodium. The rest is only water."

Women Plan Farm Homes to Meet Needs

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

What is the most convenient way to arrange the kitchen equipment? What is the best size for a farm kitchen? Does it pay to have a washroom with an outside entrance? Should this also be used as a laundry? Should there be an extra room on the first floor to be used as an office?

In response to his request, H. L. Russell, dean of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, recently received a number of excellent farm-home plans, embodying their ideas about the above questions, from women living on farms in various sections of Wisconsin.

The accompanying plan was submitted to Dean Russell by a woman living in Kenosha county. The large, well-lighted living room with an open fireplace, the office for books, business conferences, and correspondence of the farmer, the washroom for the men (with an outside entrance) and the convenient arrangement of the kitchen furnishings are noteworthy features. The arrangement of the cupboard, sink, drainboard, and work-shelf and the nearness of the range enable the housewife to perform her routine kitchen tasks with as few extra steps as possible.

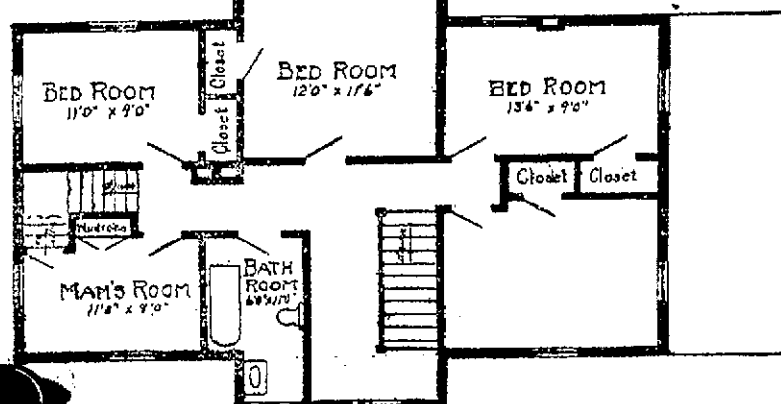

In commenting on the comparatively slow improvement of farm-home planning one writer says:

"It may truly be said that the problem of the American farmhouse is still unsolved. For the building of new, appropriate farm dwellings, we have almost no precedent to guide us. Most of the rural houses now standing are failures as farmhouses for the reason that they were not planned for farm conditions. In fact, many of them were not planned at all. They were merely built, and built in about the following fashion: An outer shell was constructed and roofed over, the inside was divided into rooms, and somewhere a kitchen was attached. If the house became too small, more rooms were added to fit the growing needs of the family. With each addition to the house, the kitchen retreated to the rear of the structure, where, by its very distance from the living rooms, it confined the housewife to her post of duty. As the family decreased in numbers and helpers became few, the front part of the house was closed and home life was centered within the radius of the kitchen and its activities.

"The reaction of so monotonous a life on the worker and the family is inevitable. Seen always from the same angle of vision, life appears dreary and uninteresting, and health is at length enfeebled. What a load of misery lies at the door of wasteful planning! However picturesque a rambling house may be, it either enslaves the workers or degenerates into a small inhabited area and a large closed-up area that is useless and unhealthful."

The letters and plans received by Dean Russell, however, would indicate that there will be little "wasteful planning" in future Wisconsin homes, and that each housewife is working out the salvation of her own home in a very capable manner.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

WISCONSIN POULTRY DISHES

Prepared by Nellie Maxwell of the Department of Farm Home Institutes for the University of Wisconsin

The farm woman who is tired of frying chickens in summer and baking them in winter will be interested in these ways of preparing fowls for the table. Some of them are new, some are old, some are unusual; all are favorites.

Chicken Cooked in Milk.—Prepare and cut up the chicken or old fowl as for fricassee, lay it in a dripping pan and cover with milk; skim milk is better than whole milk if the fowl is very fat. Bake it in a slow oven until the fowl is tender; season when it has been cooking an hour or more, dredge with flour and cook until the gravy is thickened.

For an invalid, remove the fillets of white meat from the breast bone, cook until tender in a buttered pan either on a broiler or in a hot oven. Season delicately and serve.

Stewed Chicken with rice is another appetizing dish. Add to the rice a cupful or less of the chicken broth; cook until tender and place the chicken in the center of the platter with a border of rice around it. Rice may have to be served in place of potatoes this year, as they continue high in price.

Creamed Chicken and Chicken Salad will never go out of date nor will we ever refuse the delicious, brown, juicy, roasted fowl that fairly bursts with the good things with which it is stuffed.

A most satisfying salad combination is apple, chicken and celery, served with a good salad dressing. The apple, if tart, is especially pleasing in this salad. Veal cooked with the chicken will help to piece it out when served.

ing for a large number. Being cooked together the whole is flavored and the addition of veal will hardly be noticed.

Chicken en Casserole.—This is one of the favorite methods of serving chicken as it may be put to cook and will take care of itself without much watching. Cut up the chicken as for frying, roll in seasoned flour and brown in a little hot fat. Take up and place a layer of chicken in a deep stone dish with a cover, add a half a dozen small onions, as many sliced carrots, a few potatoes and finish with another layer of chicken; add a little boiling water, put on the cover and leave it to its fate. Cook rather slowly for two or three hours according to the size and age of the fowl.

There is no more delicious dish than chicken soup, thickened with a little rice and served well seasoned and piping hot. The bones of the chicken cooked in cold water for a few hours and combined with rich milk, butter, flour, an egg, and a half cupful of cream, added last, one will have a dish of soup fit for a king.

Chicken Loaf.—Remove the flesh from a four-pound fowl, to this add a pound and a half of veal and a pound of fresh pork, containing considerable fat, pass the whole through the meat chopper; add four milk crackers rolled fine, three eggs, well beaten, a tablespoonful of salt, two peppers cut in bits, a third of a cupful of thick white sauce, a fourth of a teaspoonful of mace or nutmeg. Mix all together and shape into a long smooth loaf. Put thin slices of fat salt pork upon the roll and a few blanched and thinly sliced almonds for decoration. Set in a very hot oven for 15 minutes to sear the meat, then cook for two hours basting, often, in a moderately hot oven. Serve cold, sliced very thin. From the bones of the chicken make an apple jelly to serve with the loaf. Cook them in water until all the gelatin is dissolved, season and mold, then cut in slices and serve with the loaf.

LIFE IN THE NAVY NOT ALL WORK; JACK HAS TIME FOR PLAY

(By Carl D. Groat, Staff Correspondent.)

With the American Great Fleet, May 25.—The modern jack tar plays as hard and wholesomely as he works. Out with the great fleet; you see him—thousands of them—getting joy out of movies, vaudeville (home talent), baseball, boxing, cards, phonographs, fishing now and then, band concerts, and good reading.

On the theory that too much work "makes Jack a dull boy," commanders of the great fleet see to it that no overburdening labor except in the emergencies, and that there is clean, healthful amusement.

Movies and vaudeville perhaps furnish him his chief amusement aboard ship, while baseball ashore proves beyond question that it is the great national sport.

Saturday afternoon and Sunday are days of rest with the great fleet, unless conditions require otherwise.

Only the essential labors are performed. Such ships as can do so permit a part of their men to ashore on leave and see to it that one of the two days a goodly portion shall have a chance at baseball.

If you want to see wild fans—and enough good players for several months—just take a look at the sailors coming ashore for baseball.

The movie bugs are just as enthusiastic, but perhaps not quite as numerous. Look out over the fleet and you will find the night—the movies playing to hundreds aboard ship, each craft exchanges its films and there is a wide variety. Melodrama appeals to men whose lives and works are based on one of the greatest of romances—that of the sea. The movies take the lads back to other days and to strange wide and strange. But to going home, they don't want that. The only place they want to go is out on the naval firing line.

One film showed a farm scene—farming and doing their ploughing. "By gosh, that looks like home," I heard a sailor lad remark. "But believe me, this is the life. No ploughing for me." "None," his partner rejoined. "This suits me from the water-line up."

When it comes to vaudeville, you can get some real talent on the fleet. Male quartets, dancers, jugglers, acrobats, and the whole lot can be found in abundance aboard any dreadnought and the show they produce compares favorably with any dollar show in any town in the land.

Being always draws a big crowd, and the go is guaranteed to be a bell ringer every time.

Below decks, some of the men tuck themselves in comfortable hammocks, and others in knots to listen to a phonograph. Still others get a lot of fun out of the reading rooms.

There is an amusement fund aboard each ship, so there are fresh records, and the phonograph and new films as soon as they can be obtained. Incidentally, some patriot could do a fine service by arranging for the fleet to get up-to-date films before they have gone the rounds of the nickelodeons and are worn down.

Mail time aboard the fleet is a happy occasion. The sailors, and receive all the mail they want, but their own communications are limited by the censor.

The despatch boat brings a precious load out from an American port, laden with supplies of fresh meat and vegetables. Stopping at each of the battleship string, the despatch boat leaves its sacks of letters, papers and magazines in care of a little later on ship shows what a precious thing a message is. A cheerful letter from home is about as good a tonic as a green man or a seasoned one can have on ship.

An officer told me that it's about the worst thing that can happen to a boy to have the folks back home getting mournful about him, and what might happen to him. He doesn't want or need sympathy, and if a letter sounds like a funeral it will have the wrong effect, whereas a cheerful note about what sister Mary or Dad or mother or somebody else is doing will add to the personal comfort of the man and to the morale of the whole organization.

Chicago Dentist invents new preparation

When a Chicago dentist, now the head of Chicago's leading dental laboratory, was practicing dentistry, he often realized the importance of a harmless, effective preparation that he could offer his patients to use, not only when visiting his office, but at their homes or offices, something that by neutralizing mouth acids would aid in the preservation of the teeth, sterilize the mouth and at the same time destroy all breath odors from whatever cause.

To obtain the results desired took months of experimenting and study, but at last in no-tel his efforts were crowned with success.

The people of this city, old and young—men and women—should feel especially pleased to know that a liberal supply of no-tel in a convenient container may now be secured at all good drug stores for only two cents.

No-tel destroys all breath odors, yet leaves no odor in return. It is guaranteed absolutely harmless and the unique first taste is instantly overcome by the sweetened, refreshed, exquisitely clean feeling in the mouth. The longer you use no-tel the more you will like it and appreciate its excellent qualities.

CO-EDS ARE MAKING RED CROSS DRESSING

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., May 25.—The men students of the university are not the only ones who are doing their share for the country. The women are taking an active part in the preparation for service in the Red Cross field. The work was begun by the Y. W. C. A., but has now been taken up by all the organizations in the school.

Classes in bandage making and dressing are regularly held at Lathrop Hall in addition to meetings at the sororities and dormitories. On the completion of a kit of dressings they are sent to the Red Cross board in New York and if the work is satisfactory the person is granted a certificate allowing them to teach the work. Several university women have already received certificates for proficiency in the work.

The Charge, the Confession, and the Coming

By REV. J. H. RALSTON, D. D.
Secretary of Correspondence Department,
Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, so that he will not hear. "I" (emphatic) "send the Spirit of the Truth." Not truth in general, but specifically that which relates to Jesus Christ. Here is the rock on which the Greek church built with the Roman. The latter added to the text in framing the Nicene Creed so that it reads "The Spirit which proceedeth from the Father and the Son." To this the Eastern church refused to subscribe. But Jesus was in this instance stating an historical fact, not formulating a theological dogma concerning the "eternal procession of the Spirit" whether it was from the Father alone, or from the Son, or from both. The blissful fact is that the Paraclete is here. It is infinitely more important that one avails himself of his office than that he defines the order of his "procession." * * * Great and noble was that saying of Robinson of the Mayflower which from time to time more truth which from time to time more truth which from time to time more truth.

THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
Second Quarter. Lesson IX. John XV, 26, 27; XVI, 7-14. May 27, 1917.
THE HOLY SPIRIT AND HIS WORK
It was the crisis hour for Jesus. The shadow of the cross was already on his path. His thoughts, however, were not upon himself, but upon his disciples. He loved them up to the very end of his career and his chief concern was that they should be thoroughly furnished for the ordeal that awaited them on his departure. His first step was to apprise them fully of its nature and severity. Their enemies were like wolves in their cunning and ferocity. They themselves were as defenseless as sheep. Excommunication would be their first and bitter experience. They would be deprived of name and lot in the synagogue. Even their own blood relations would deny them recognition. None would come nearer to them than four cubits, the space allotted to a corpse. This social and ecclesiastical death would soon be followed by painful and disgraceful physical death. Their executioners would feel certain they were doing a religious act, a service for God. Revelation of impending fate could not have been more faithful. * * *

But now comes the assurance that will nerve them for the ordeal. It is the revelation of one who will take his place and fill it as perfectly as he could himself should he remain, nay even more perfectly because of the limitations of the flesh which he was subject. The word Comforter describes the effect of the office rather than the nature of it. The word literally signifies "one who is called to one's side" in a legal emergency, an attorney, councilor or pleader, one who gives confidence and assurance to the accused and consequently correspondingly, strength and comfort. They would not need to puzzle their brains to prepare a defense. The Paraclete, the divine Attorney, would give them the argument, nay even the phrase in which it should be uttered. * * *

Charge of Worldliness.
If the application of these words were made to the church today, which would be very proper, the charge would not be wise if it were made in the form of details or conduct, but if the church were charged with worldliness, with betrayal of pure doctrine, with robbery as far as withholding offerings to God are concerned, then the charge would attract attention. The church of God today in its sinful condition stands as a buffer between God and the unsaved world. A great load of guilt is on it today on this particular account. It is a misrepresentation of what Christ and his religion are. The world does not today read Christ properly because it reads the perverted message of Christ that the church presents in its life. * * *

But the shortcomings of the church will not redeem any unsaved man, nor be an excuse for not getting right with God. Every true man stands on his own bottom. What is wrong with the unsaved man? Simply that he is out of right relationship with God; there is a lack of adjustment. A man can fence all his pleasures and try to throw the blame on God, but ultimately the trouble is with himself. His sins have separated between him and God, and these must be got out of the way. God must be faithful to man, and to show his love he says through his ministers, "Your sins have hid his face from you that he will not hear."

God's Part and Man's.
The charging of sin is God's part; the confessing of sin is man's part. Fortunately, the people to whom the prophet spoke heeded his word, and we read that they made detailed confession. Confession is in a way the same thing as repentance, and some men have shown themselves to be strong in repentance. Indeed, there is no explanation of their standing before God, except conceding that they knew how to repent. We have David and Peter as examples. Such confession is coming out candidly and accepting the righteousness of the charge of God. God has passed judgment, his charge is made and man must, like one of ancient times, acknowledge the charge in order that God may be justified when he speaks and be clear when he judges. We might note in this part of the confession that the individual says "his sins are multiplied before him"—that is, they are in an exaggerated form, really what they are, as compared with what he has hitherto considered them to be. He concedes, also, that his sins belong to himself. * * *

The need of the day in which we live is confession, national confession, church confession, individual confession. Some nations today are on their knees. They are on their way to true blessing because they are going to get right with God. The organized church is hardly on its feet yet, and it is slipping further and further away from the truth of God, and not until it gets to its knees and confesses its attachment to the world, its departure from truth, its failure to understand its true mission, will it have God's favor. * * *

The Blessing.
The inevitable following confession of sin, namely, blessing. In the text we are told that the Redeemer shall come to Zion. The trouble with the world and with the church and the individual is, that the Redeemer is not present. This coming of the Redeemer may fairly be considered in the first place as a spiritual coming. The ideal situation is expressed by the term Immanuel, which means "God with us." But God cannot be with us if we hold to our sins and do not confess and forsake them. God remains away from nations and churches and individuals as far as his blessings are concerned, who do not confess their sins and return to him. * * *

FINANCING THE LEGION.
(Tenth Legion.)
May 27, 1917. Luke XIX 11-28
God's independence of man is absolute. If he was hungry he would not need to tell anyone. But the paradox of it is that God is also dependent, so much so that he is glad to get two miles from a widow. The only possible explanation is that God's dependence is relative not absolute. It is assumed not for his advantage, however, for he has nothing to gain. It is for man's good. It is God's way of killing a vice and creating a virtue in the soul of man. The vice is covetousness. For this purpose he is to whom belong the cattle on a thousand hills assumes the garb, and speaks the language of a suppliant, and asks alms and gifts of all men, even of those who themselves are mendicants. * * *

CUT APPROPRIATION TO NORMAL SCHOOLS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 25.—After three hours of debate the assembly sent to the senate a bill to cut the appropriation for normal schools by the amount recommended by the finance committee and as it was approved in the senate. An amendment by Assemblyman George J. Whitely of Portage county to give the normal schools the amount recommended by the state board of education was defeated 58 to 24. This action has meant an increase for operation of about $225,000. Assemblyman V. V. Miller of Rusk county, attempted to offer an amendment that would split the difference between the board of education and the finance committee, but the amendment was ruled out of order on the ground that the previous question had been called for and later ordered.

Following are the amounts carried for all of the nine normals in the state as the bill was engrossed in the house:

	1917-18	1918-19
Operation	$851,112.00	$867,682.00
Maintenance	24,546.00	22,585.00
Capital	95,392.14	56,150.00
Sub total	$971,050.14	$946,417.00
Revolving fund	51,969.00	51,969.00
Grand total	$1,023,019.14	$998,386.00

During the debate over the bill Assemblyman Grell and Everett scored some of the presidents of the normal schools for being present in the legislative halls to urge an increase in their appropriations. Grell said they had no business there. Assemblyman O'Brien said he was willing to vote for a 50-50 increase as suggested by Assemblyman V. V. Miller but that interested will be given an opportunity to present claims for exemption, exclusion or discharge from the draft. He said the amount given was $3,000 more than the normals spent last year.

WAR DEPARTMENT TO ISSUE ORDERS LATER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, May 25.—The war department has issued notice that no exemptions from war service would be made at the time of registration. The exemptions will come at the time of the draft, stated by Secretary War Baker to be about September 1. Here is the statement:

"Provisional Marshal General E. H. Crowder finds that many persons confuse registration with draft. Each in a distinct process. Exemptions will be granted after draft and not before. Even convicts and alien enemies are obliged to register.
"There is little difficulty in answering the questions which are asked in regard to registration, for there are no exceptions to the rule that all male persons in the United States between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive must register, except those already in the military or naval service of the United States. It is impossible at present, however, to answer most questions in regard to exemptions, for the selective draft bill and must in many cases be drawn by the president."

Drawings by Lot.

"The selective service bill and the present law require that a drawing be made at the time of registration on June 5, 1917, of all male persons who on that date have attained their twenty-first birthday and who have not previously been drafted for military or naval service of the United States, which includes all officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the marine corps and the national guard, and naval militia, while in the service of the United States, and officers of the officers' reserve corps and enlisted men in the reserve corps while in active service."

"From the lists of persons so registered names will subsequently be drawn by lot, by the fairest system that can be devised. Persons whose names are drawn and other persons interested will be given an opportunity to present claims for exemption, exclusion or discharge from the draft, and to support such claims by evidence."

Rules to Come Later.

"The determination of whether a particular claim for exemption, exclusion or discharge shall be granted will be made by board to be appointed by the president. These boards will function under the law and under regulations prescribed by the president."

"The only regulations that have been prescribed by the government governing the registration alone. The determination of exemptions, exclusions and discharges is a second step, quite separate from the registration."

"Regulations governing the determination of exemptions, exclusions and discharges will, when promulgated, be made available to all concerned at the offices of the local boards. Until such regulations have been promulgated further information cannot be given, as it might later prove misleading, and even after the regulations have been made available, the law provides that all such cases shall be heard and determined by the board to be established for that purpose."

Edgerton News

EDGERTON PLATOON PLANS GREAT MILITARY BALL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, May 25.—The Edgerton platoon will give a dance at Academy hall Friday evening, June 1st, for the purpose of raising "funds" to be used to buy extras for the table while in camp and on the march. Arrangements have been made to have the Wisconsin National Guard Band, located at Madison, to be here on the above date, which will give a band concert from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. The band will have thirty instruments, and will also furnish the music for the dance. The expenses will amount to about two hundred dollars and the support of everyone is needed. The arrangement committee consists of the following: Sergeant McIntosh, Corporal Ogden, Corporal Clark, Corporal Williams. The affair is endorsed by the Rock County Auxiliary Council of Defense and the Edgerton branch of the Red Cross.

Mrs. W. Earle attended the funeral of the late Newton K. Kell last Friday afternoon. The funeral was held from the farm home near Whitewater.

There are now about fifteen men employed at the Edgerton Highway Traffic factory. The new concern has been handicapped in putting the factory in shape to turn out trailers. Two trailers were shipped today to Glendive, Montana, by express on a rush order. Another trailer of the four wheel type will be shipped to Rock Island, Ill., for use at the United States arsenal as soon as it can be turned out. The factory buildings have all been painted and extensive repairs have been made. In another week it is expected that the plant will be in full operation.

The exhibit of the work accomplished by the students of the high school in the domestic science, manual training, penmanship and drawing departments exhibited this afternoon attracted a large attendance. The exhibit will be open this evening and is well worth your while.

The children's program presented under the direction of Miss Madge Willson at the Congregational church last evening was pronounced by those who attended to have been a delightful musical treat. The program was run off with all the dash of professional performers. Miss Willson is to be heartily commended for making such a refreshing and entertaining evening. An entertaining finale to the evening was the screening of photos of members of the church and Sunday school from old prints.

BIBLE PICTURE QUERY—5

Who Were the First Women to Demand Their Rights?

Curious and Unusual Bible Questions
Look at the picture above, then turn to your Bible and find the answer to the question. The picture illustrates the verse in which the answer will be found.
Each week we will publish an illustrated question from the Bible and the following week publish the answer. See if you can find the answer before we publish it. Make a family pastime of this interesting feature—it will amuse and instruct you.

Last Week's Question and the Answer
Last week's query: "What is the greatest instance of human obedience?" was illustrated by a picture of Abraham preparing to kill his son, Isaac, at God's command. The answer is found in Genesis, Chapter 22, Verses 2 and 10.

"And he (God) said, Take now thy son, thine only one, Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which will tell thee."—Abraham stretched forth his hand, and took the knife to slay his son.

SHORTY LEE'S TEAM OPPONENTS SUNDAY

Mike Neuen's Barnhart Hats Meet Cards Here Sunday.—Former Local Boy Playing at Shorty.

Manager Willis (the one of the Janesville Cardinals is planning two important changes in the team before it meets Milwaukee at the Driving Park Sunday. Cole and President Langdon have been lining up an outfielder and a new catcher. It is almost assured that they have secured the garden man but some trouble is being met with in getting a good backstop.

Aside from these two proposed changes the remainder of the lineup is expected to remain the same as last Sunday. Wloszynski will be on the mound again. The big trouble of the team, Pole, had Sunday, despite the fact that White-water was beaten, 4 to 8, was with Grant. Sharkey was unable to hold the Pole, and this resulted in the big follow-up slowing up and using his fast ball sparingly.

Wloszynski has as speedy a ball as any pitcher in the league, and with a backstop who can handle such a battery can compare on par with any on the circuit. It is hard to secure a good catcher for the amount of money the team can pay, as the salary is limited to a certain amount per game, with the club liable to penalties if the stipulated sum is increased.

The Milwaukee team, Mike Neuen's Barnhart Hats, have been mauled by every team they have met thus far, but because of this and because the Port Rebels took them into camp by an eleven to one count Sunday, there is no feeling of over-confidence on the part of the local management. Cole has had enough experience to know that it is just such a team which is liable to spring the biggest surprise.

"Shorty" Elmer Lee, who played short and second base for the old Cardinals a couple of years ago, is playing with Neuen's team in the former position. Shorty has been hitting some this season and has delivered at least one heavy blow for each game. At Jefferson he bungled out two drives against the mighty Bona, and at the Port last Sunday he got out off Beels.

If the weather continues to keep on warming up, then a good crowd will witness the contest.

TYLER AND RUDOLPH MUST WORK HARD TO KEEP BRAVES HIGH IN THE RACE

Tyler (left) and Rudolph.

George Stallings, the Boston Braves' boss, believes that he will have to have the highest class pitching to make a good showing this season. Which means that a great deal will rest with Tyler and Rudolph, who have recently begun to round into their best form. Aside from these two veterans the Braves' pitching staff shows no great strength, although Hughes, Ragan, Allen or Nehf may come through with surprises.

Modern Kitchens.
The back to the kitchen movement should receive an impetus from the difference between the modern kitchen and those in which our grandmothers used to work. There is a great advance from the old fashioned stove which was constantly fed with wood or coal and the modern gas or electric stove; also the kitchen cabinet saves many a step, and aluminum utensils are kept clean much more easily than those of copper or iron. The modern housewife has a picnic compared with her grandmother.—Portland Oregonian.

BILL JAMES MAY YET BE SAVED TO BRAVES

Dispatches from California bring word that Bill James, with a growth out of his firing arm, will make an effort to come back. The wondrous worker, whose tremendous heaving was mainly responsible for the dash to a world's championship by the Braves, it is declared, may be on the road to a successful comeback.

The rejuvenation of James would give the Braves considerable more of a look in on things than they possess right now. When this master of the hurling art was in his best fettle there never was a pitcher who was better. James was the acme of that angle of baseball. He had everything—speed, a curve ball, the ball that goes with it, and the tremendous bulk needed to carry him through the hardest work.

James' first year as a professional baseball hurler marked him as a player of parts. He won twenty-nine games and was defeated in only seven while pitching for Seattle in the Northwestern league. That was enough for Boston. He was promptly grabbed off. His first year he won

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK MEET IS HIT BY WAR

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 25.—Due to the pressing war conditions and the fact that most of the high schools in the state have disbanded track athletics for the year, only thirteen schools will have men entered in the annual interscholastic meet to be held at Camp Randall Saturday afternoon. Dr. W. B. Meanwell, varsity basketball coach, will have complete charge of the meet. Coach Tom Jones of the track team, will act as official starter and referee.

The entry list shows that only one hundred and thirty men will take part in the events. Most of these men are from the larger schools in the state, only five or six of the smaller high schools will enter. All of the Milwaukee schools will send teams, although the number of entrants is much smaller than in previous years. La Crosse will send a large number of men. Madison high school and the university high schools will be represented. Stoughton will be the only representative of the southern section of the state. They pin their hopes on Usher, who will run in the dashes. Last year the Stoughton lad made a good record in these events.

The meet will include all the regular event on a track program, but will eliminate the relay. The fifty yard dash has also been dropped, as well as the standing broad jump. In previous meets the field events were carried out in excellent shape. Each event will have its own judges, so that more than one event can be carried on at the same time. In previous meets the field events were carried out to the extent that the dashes were delayed. All "W" wearers who are in the university will act as officials.

Then along came Willie Ritchie, the California automobile merchant, brimful of pep and confidence, and the defeat of the Cadillac Bearcat followed. No longer was Wolgast champion of the world. But as champion, Wolgast had prospered. Those were the days of big purses in California, when twenty-round bouts were permitted, and Ad, a shrewd youngster, pulled down the big coin and saved it. He stuck a lot of it in the land in Michigan, and it is there yet, a monument to the ring prowess of its owner. He's credited with being worth $200,000.

But financial success wasn't enough for Ad. He liked the boxing game and, even worse than that, there stuck deep in his craw the belief that he could accomplish that remarkable feat of winning back a championship after he once had lost it. It was too bad that the game and the money were for him, and there were many others being led on by that foolish mirage. So Ad wouldn't quit. He got himself a new manager and ordered that manager to go ahead and arrange matches for him, and a tough battle after battle and often met defeat, nearly always taking a lacing. He did not keep in condition and that is mainly responsible for his present condition. That's one of the lamentable stories of the boxing game—and an exception.

More than $400 was raised for the Red Cross at the Ojai valley tournament recently held at Northridge, Cal. This was the first event conducted under the regulations adopted by the executive committee of the United States National Lawn Tennis association applying to this season's schedule. The success of the California event is considered a good omen.

When the colleges were canceling schedules right and left soon after war was declared, and athletics seemed headed for the discard, representatives of the national tennis and golf associations, the Amateur Athletic association, and the Interstate Association of Amateur Athletes of America met to determine their policy.

Conforming to a statement of principles which resulted from that conference, the tennis association issued a set of regulations to control tournaments. Briefly these eliminated championships, prizes, and ranking and provided that 220 events on one schedule should be played as patriotic tournaments. Clubs were

GUERNSEY BREEDERS WILL HOLD PICNIC

Association Plans Annual Picnic and Field Day for June 23rd at Broadhead Farm.

On June 23rd, the members of the Rock County Guernsey Breeders' association will hold their annual picnic at the Sugar River Stock Farm, four miles south of Broadhead. The affair is an annual event and comprises besides a picnic and a big field day, an excellent opportunity of learning the many good points of Guernsey cattle.

Since the organization of the society in May of last year, with fifteen charter members, 25 registered and 150 grade Guernseys, it has grown until now there are fifty-two members with 250 registered and 500 grade animals.

Efforts are constantly being made to increase the interest in this breed of cattle, and while the association is intended essentially for promoting development in the county, all breeders are welcome.

Those who attend the picnic will be able to see first hand information of the cattle and to converse with a successful breeder, A. S. Knudson, the proprietor of the farm, has a large herd. Arrangements have been perfected to furnish autos to convey all who go by train from Broadhead to the farm. A picnic dinner will be served. Additional information concerning the picnic may be obtained by calling M. E. Kellogg, secretary of the association.

The program for the day follows:

- 11:45 Call to order, President W. A. Mann in chair.
- 12:00 Address by Mr. Knudson, renewing annual memberships, etc.
- 12:15 Adjournment for dinner.
- 1:30 Call to order.
- Music by quartet.
- Business session.
- Solo by Mr. Ten Eyck.
- 2:00 Address by Dr. E. D. Ball, Madison, Wis., "Better Herds Make for a Better Human."
- 3:15 Judging contests. Selecting the highest producing cow from a class of advanced registry animals (of which Mr. Knudson has quite a number), placing the animals in classes of mature and young stock. The judging will be under the direction of some well known breeders who will explain the final placing of the animals.
- 4:30 Closing song and adjournment.

STATE DRYS ORGANIZE NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., May 25.—Pledging themselves to work for the election of members of the legislature, regardless of party affiliation, who are willing to commit themselves to bring about statutory prohibition in 1919, 150 men representing as many different cities and villages throughout the state, yesterday afternoon effected permanent political organization under the name of the Wisconsin Non-Partisan Dry League. The officers are:

President—John Strange, Neenah.

Vice president—Henry Johnson, Superior.

Treasurer—F. J. Yea, Stoughton.

Recording secretary—W. B. Taylor, Tonawanda.

The league of organization also provides for the election of a state central committee, to consist of three members from each congressional district, an executive committee of twelve members, including the officers of the league who are ex-officio members of the committee, a finance committee of fifteen members, and a general secretary, who shall maintain headquarters and devote his entire time to the work of the league under the immediate direction of the executive committee.

Resolutions were adopted commending the work of the members of the senate and the assembly, who worked and voted for the Byrnie bill, and declaring it to be the purpose of the Wisconsin Non-Partisan League to work for the nomination and election of candidates for the legislature who are willing to pledge themselves to vote and work for the passage of statutory prohibition law.

Assemblyman W. T. Evjue, author of the Byrnie bill, Senator George B. Skogman, John Strange, Secretary of State Merwin Hull, and others made speeches discussing the fate of the Byrnie bill and the Carpenter bill.

It is not now necessary to go to the people with a referendum on the question, said Assemblyman Evjue. If we make this the issue in the coming election of members of the legislature and the election of law enforcement officers in every county in the state, the election in itself will be a referendum that should be final. We should require every candidate to declare himself on this issue, and we should see to it that a candidate is nominated in each legislative district in the state in each of the great political parties who is committed to vote for statutory prohibition, a prohibition law without a referendum, in that way we can vote for the proposition to make Wisconsin dry and in a way that no executive veto can prevent the people, at least, from expressing themselves.

GIRL MEETS MOTHER AFTER HALF CENTURY

Orfordville, May 25.—A few days ago a mother and daughter, who had not seen each other for forty-five years, nor up to a few weeks prior to that time had heard of each other, were united, and the old mother, who is nearly eighty years old, will be given a comfortable home, surrounded by loved ones. Forty-five years ago Rayna Olson was married to Andrew Shean. At the time of her marriage she had a daughter a few years old, and she and her husband being poor, it was deemed advisable to find a home for the child elsewhere. Accordingly she was adopted by a family residing in Minnesota. Years passed and each lost track of the other, and after a number of years the husband died and for several years the wife and mother resided near the village of Orfordville, a widow. Later she married Mathias Johnson, who also died several years ago, leaving the woman in destitute circumstances. Too old to earn a living by daily toil, she for several years received assistance regularly from Rock county. She spent the past winter with an old lady friend at Broadhead and while there it was that she learned that her daughter was still alive and the wife of Carl Skar of Knox, N. D. Letters were at once exchanged with the result that Mr. Skar came to Orfordville a short time ago and took the old lady to his home in the west where she will spend her remaining years.

At the home of Mrs. C. G. Stuvengen on Thursday morning occurred the marriage of Hans Johnson and

The young couple were attended by the bride's brother and sister of the bride, Gilmar and Genie Stuvengen. Only the immediate members of the family were present. After the ceremony the young couple left for Chicago and Detroit, where they will spend a few days, after which they will return and take up their residence in Beloit, at which city Mr. Johnson at present resides. He is engaged in the contracting and electrical business, while Miss Stuvengen has been engaged with the Flak Electric company for the past four years and was previous to this time for three years with the Warner company of that city. The bride was born in the village of Orfordville and grew to womanhood here, and has a host of friends who will join in congratulations.
